

earthSake Mattress Prescription Form
– For NO Wool or Fire Retardant –

For our records and for the records of the mattress manufacturer, by law we must have on file a written prescription to a named individual, or other comparable written medical therapeutic specification, from a physician, chiropractor, osteopath, for purposes of this regulation the term physician shall mean a physician, chiropractor or osteopath licensed or otherwise permitted to practice by any State of the United States before we can ship a prescription mattress that contains no interior wool OR Fire retardant of any kind.

Check with your State Sales Tax Board. Our research found that prescription mattresses may qualify as durable medical equipment and are exempt from sales taxes in every state except IL. IL charges a 1% sales tax on medical equipment. (But, you should not rely on our statements and check with your state or tax advisor.) Federal and State Tax Deductibility Prescription Mattresses should be tax deductible to the patient as a medical expense. (But, you should not rely on our statements and the patient should check with their tax advisor on deductibility.)

WARNING: This mattress may be subject to a large fire if exposed to an open flame. It was manufactured in accordance with a physician's prescription and has not been tested under the Federal Standard for the Flammability (Open-Flame) of Mattresses and Foundation Sets (16 C.F.R. part 1633).

WARNING: This mattress may be subject to ignition and hazardous smoldering from cigarettes. It was manufactured in accordance with a physician's prescription and has not been tested under the Federal Standard for the Flammability of Mattresses (FF 4-72)
